VISIT TO ECOLOGICAL SITE

Organizing a student visit to an ecological site can offer numerous educational benefits and enriching experiences. Visiting an ecological site provides students with the opportunity for hands-on learning experiences. They can observe and interact with different ecosystems, plant and animal species, and geological features, which enhances their understanding of ecological concepts taught in the classroom. The students of Economics department visited Madayi beach on 22-6-2023 and enjoyed the natural diversity and beauty there. The final year students of B.A. Economics class has participated in the programme. There type of programmes were organized by the department for inculcating environmental awareness among the student community.

SOCIAL EXTENSION PROGRAMME

Cleaning a nearby Public Health Centre (PHC) as part of a social extension program is a commendable initiative that can contribute to the well-being of the community. Visit the Public Health Centre to assess its cleanliness and identify areas that require attention. Take note of any specific cleaning tasks that need to be addressed, such as garbage disposal, sanitization of common areas, or organizing medical supplies. Recruit volunteers from among the college students, faculty, staff, and members of the local community who are interested in participating in the cleaning activity. Promote the event through college announcements, social media, posters, and word-of-mouth to attract volunteers. By organizing a cleanup activity at a nearby Public Health Centre, college students can contribute to the improvement of community health and well-being while fostering a sense of social responsibility and civic engagement. Our students visited the nearby FHC Centre at Malappattam 4-8-2023 and offered their service there. Students have cleaned the building and nearby area, collected plastic wastes etc. The hospital authority has been appreciated our students for the project.

KIDS CARE PROGRAMME

Organizing an Anganwadi visit as part of a kids care program is a wonderful initiative that can benefit both the students and the children at the Anganwadi. Identify a suitable Anganwadi center in the vicinity of your college or community. Contact the center in advance to discuss the possibility of a visit and to understand their schedule and requirements. Conduct an orientation session for the participating students to familiarize them with the concept and objectives of Anganwadi centers, as well as the services they provide to children and mothers in the community. Plan a range of interactive and age-appropriate activities for the students to engage with the children at the Anganwadi. These could include storytelling, art and craft, games, music and dance, educational activities, and health and hygiene awareness sessions. After the visit, facilitate a debriefing session for the students to reflect on their experiences, insights, and the impact of their interactions with the children at the Anganwadi. By organizing an Anganwadi visit as part of a kids care program, students can gain valuable insights into the needs and challenges faced by children in their community, while also making a positive impact through their interactions and support.

PLASTIC WASTE CLEANING

Engaging in beach clean-ups raises awareness about the effects of plastic pollution on marine life and fostering a sense of responsibility for the environment. These activities often involve collaboration with local communities, promoting teamwork and strengthening community ties. Students gain practical experience in environmental science, sustainability, and conservation, reinforcing their academic studies with real-world applications.

Our students took effort to clean the plastic waste from the nearby beach at Payyambalam, Kannur. The programme was arranged on 4-8-23. All the waste collected by the students were packed and deposited in the nearby collection centre of the Kannur Corporation. 31 students actively participated in the cleaning work in full time.

SPECIAL SCHOOL VISIT

Visiting a special school can be a powerful way to foster empathy among college students. Before the visit, provide students with information about the special school, including its mission, the types of disabilities or special needs the students there have, and any guidelines or expectations for interacting with the students. Encourage students to share their experiences and insights with their peers, family members, and communities to raise awareness and promote empathy towards individuals with disabilities. By organizing a visit to a special school and facilitating meaningful interactions and activities, college students can develop a deeper understanding and appreciation for the experiences and challenges faced by individuals with disabilities, thereby fostering empathy and promoting inclusion in society.

WOMEN EMPOWERMENT PROGRAMME

Involvement of undergraduate students in women empowerment programs is crucial for fostering gender equality and promoting social change. Students can organize campaigns, workshops, and seminars to raise awareness about women's rights and issues, educating their peers and the community. Participation in local NGOs or community initiatives focused on women's empowerment helps students contribute directly to impactful projects. Students can lead or assist in workshops that teach skills such as financial literacy, self-defense, leadership, and entrepreneurship to women in the community.

As part of this project our students visited the Muzkkunnu Kudumbasree unit on 5-8-2023 and conducted training programme on how to use mobile phone in financial transactions. It gave lot of information to the kudumbasree membes and made their financial transactions very easy. Hands on training were also given on how to send money through E-Banking, Mobile banking, Online banking etc.
