MIZONE VISIT

Visiting a start-up center can be highly relevant for economics graduates. It allows graduates to see how economic theories and principles apply in real-world scenarios, enhancing their understanding of market dynamics and business operations. Exposure to start-ups can spark entrepreneurial interest and provide insights into the challenges and opportunities of starting a business, fostering innovative thinking. Graduates can connect with entrepreneurs, investors, and industry professionals, which can lead to job opportunities, collaborations, and mentorship.

The department of economics organized a visit to 'Mizone', a start-up incubation centre, at Dharmashala, Kannur on 4-8-2023. 31 students from the second year class participated in the programme. Students visited the start-up companies working in the center and make one-to-one discussion with them. Students clarified their doubts with them and try to understand the challenges and potentials in starting a new company. The institute also arranged a seminar for the students on the challenges faced by start-up entrepreneurs. Students also clarified their doubts with the resource person.
